

up.png

UNIVERSITY OF THE PHILIPPINES

Bachelor of Science in Applied Physics

Ian Angelo T. Aragoza

Modelling Poverty in the Philippines using Machine Learning

Thesis Adviser:

,

National Institute of Physics

University of the Philippines Diliman

Date of Submission:

Thesis classification:

P

This thesis is not available to the public. Please ask the library for assistance.

Table of Contents

List of Figures

In 2015, the United Nations adopted a series of seventeen global landmarks that international leaders would aim to reach by the year 2030 in an effort to establish a more egalitarian and prosperous society. This also aims to close the inequality gap in between the more prosperous Global North countries in comparison to the struggling Global South countries.